

Contents

List of contributors ix

Quotation and italicization conventions xv

Introduction 1

Part I Music, consciousness, and the four Es

- 1 Situated approaches to musical experience 11
Christoph Seibert
- 2 Cognitive extension and musical consciousness 34
Lawrence M. Zbikowski
- 3 Music as affective scaffolding 55
Joel Krueger
- 4 Empathy and the ecology of musical consciousness 71
Eric Clarke
- 5 Feeling at one: Socio-affective distribution, vibe, and dance-music consciousness 93
Maria A.G. Witek
- 6 Strange loops of attention, awareness, action, and affect in musical improvisation 113
David Borgo

Part II Consciousness in musical practice

- 7 Performative passivity: Lessons on phenomenology and the extended musical mind with the Danish String Quartet 127
Simon Høffding
- 8 Music, phenomenology, and the 'natural attitude': Analysing Sibelius, thinking with Husserl, reflecting on Dennett 143
David Clarke
- 9 Practical time consciousness in musical performance 170
Mark Doffman
- 10 The interplay between conscious and subconscious processes during expert musical improvisation 187
Martin Norgaard

- 11 Conscious and non-conscious perception and action in musical performance 200
Robert Harris and Bauke M. de Jong
- 12 What kind of conscious activity is 'listening to music'? A contribution from Theodor Adorno by way of psychoanalysis 215
Shierry Weber Nicholse

Part III Kinds of musical consciousness

- 13 Absorption and openness to experience: An everyday tale of traits, states, and consciousness change with music 233
Ruth Herbert
- 14 The impact of musical structure on enjoyment and absorptive listening states in trance music 254
Kat Agres, Louis Bigo, and Dorien Herremans
- 15 Musical imagery and the temporality of consciousness 271
Freya Bailes
- 16 Dual consciousness and unconsciousness: The structure and spirituality of polymetric tabla compositions 286
Vivek Virani
- 17 (Un)consciousness? Music in the Daoist context of nonbeing 306
Lanlan Kuang

Index 325