

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Executive Summary	11
Introduction	13
1 Sustainable Consumption and Consumer Behaviour	17
1.1 Characteristics of Global Consumer Trends in the Consumer Goods Market	18
1.2 Agenda 21 as a Basis for Contemporary Sustainable Development Based on Value	20
1.3 Sustainable Consumption and the Sustainable Consumer	22
1.4 Impulses for Innovation Arising from Consumer Behaviour ..	26
1.5 Employee Training	30
1.6 The Relationship between Sustainable Consumption and Pro-Environmental Consumer Behaviour	32
2 Theory of Planned Behaviour	35
2.1 Psychological Pillars of the Theory of Planned Behaviour	38
2.2 Subjective Norms	39
2.3 Perceived Behavioural Control	40
2.4 Green Purchasing Intentions	41
3 Methodology	43
3.1 Characteristics of the Studied Sample — Czech Republic	45
3.2 Characteristics of the Studied Sample — Poland	48
3.3 Characteristics of the Studied Sample — Slovakia	51
4 Analysis of Sustainable Consumption and Pro-Environmental Behaviour	55
4.1 Czech Republic: Sustainable Consumption and Pro-Environmental Behaviour	56
4.2 Poland: Sustainable Consumption and Pro-Environmental Behaviour	61
4.3 Slovakia: Sustainable Consumption and Pro-Environmental Behaviour	70

5	Discussion: Scenario Analysis of Pro-Environmental Behaviour . . .	77
5.1	Scenarios of Pro-Environmental Behaviour in the Czech Republic	77
5.2	Sustainable Consumption and Pro-Environmental Behaviour in Poland	82
5.3	Scenarios of Sustainable Consumption and Pro- Environmental Behaviour in Slovakia	91
6	Conclusion	98
	Reference	101