

Contents

Deformed Christ

The Relationality of the Human Person in the Light of Trinitarian Ontology, Psychoanalysis, and Mysticism

Eduard Fiedler

Introduction: Towards a Trinitarian Transformation of Philosophy 17

Part I: Transforming Metaphysics Beyond the Analytic-Continental Divide 25

Valentina Gaudio

Dialogue between Philosophy and Theology: The Hemmerlean Proposal of a Trinitarian Ontology 27

Paweł Rojek

Trinity and Universals: Pavel Florensky's Analytic Trinitarian Ontology 47

John Milbank

The Equality of Eternity and the Equality of Time: The Metaphysical Revolution of the Latin Fathers Victorinus and Augustine 85

Part II: Traditions of Trinitarian Thought 135

Petr Havlík

Mariology of Gregory of Nyssa as a Concretization of his Trinitarian Personalism 137

Eduard Fiedler

Augustine and the Child: De Trinitate's Prologue as the Prolegomena to Trinitarian Ontology 149

David A. C. Bennett

Retrieving Augustine’s “Way In”: Knowing Trinitarian Ontology Through the Beauty of God in the Deformed Christ 169

Jonas Narchi

Can There Be a Philosophy of the Trinity? Victorine Answers Reconsidered 183

Part III: Renewing Trinitarian Ontologies 207

Maria Benedetta Curi

The Secret Trinitarian Ontology of Franz Rosenzweig 209

Pavel Frývaldský

The Trinitarian Mystery of the Word: Ferdinand Ebner and Romano Guardini 219

Matthew N. Williams

Real Symbols, Real Love: Johannine Ontology Read Through Rahner 245

Lech Wołowski

The Relationship Between Intratrinitarian-Infinite Freedom and Human-Finite Freedom in the Thought of Józef Tischner and Hans Urs von Balthasar 271

Bernhard Stalla

The Trinitarian Ontology of Heinrich Beck and the Relationship of Absolute Necessity, Ordering Wisdom, and Personal Partnership 287

Ryan Haecker

The Novelty of Trinitarian Ontology: A Response to Thomas Joseph White and John Betz 295

Part IV: Transforming Anthropology and Politics 321

Martin Danišek
The Relationality of the Human Person in the Light of Trinitarian Ontology, Psychoanalysis, and Mysticism . . . 323

György Geréby
Political Implications of the Inimitable Trinity 339

Jiří Baroš
Liberalism, the Common Good, and Dramatic Tensions 363

Petr Macek
Trinitarian and Social Ontology in the Czech Theological Thinking (1945–1989) 381

Mátyás Szalay
Triumph, Catastrophe, and Humor: Reflecting on the Nature of Historic Events in Trinitarian versus Secular
Terms 399

Authors 419

¹ This work has been supported by Charles University Research Centre program PRIMUS/HUM/25 ("Trinitarian Ontology of the Human Person").

