

CONTENTS

	PAGE
FOREWORD	v
INTRODUCTION	1
PART I. BACKGROUND OF THE PROBLEM
CHAPTER
I. AUTOMOTIVE TRANSPORTATION AND THE NATIONAL ECONOMY	5
Dependence on the Motor Vehicle	7
The Problem	9
II. TRENDS IN TRANSPORTATION COST AND SERVICE ..	11
Items of Transportation Cost	11
Early Operating Costs	15
Developments in the Automobile	17
Used Cars and Consumer Credit	22
The Rubber Tire	25
Gasoline	29
Summary	32
III. EVOLUTION OF THE HIGHWAY PROBLEM	34
The Economics of Good Roads	34
The Highway Problem	38
Origins of the Highway Problem	39
Factors Influencing Highway Design	43
The Problem in Urban Areas	50
Cost of the Highway Program	53
Demands on the Highway Dollar	58
PART II. POSSIBILITIES FOR THE FUTURE
INTRODUCTION	63
The Formative Period	63
The Growth Period	63
The Period of Maturity	64

IV. TECHNOLOGICAL DEVELOPMENTS IN THE VEHICLE	66
Criticism of the Automobile	66
Problem of the Low-Price Car	68
The Economics of Weight	73
Body Design Potentials	76
Engine and Fuel Developments	80
Conclusion	85
V. IMPROVING THE MANAGEMENT OF EXISTING HIGHWAYS	87
The Problem of Administrative Units	88
Possibilities of Traffic Engineering	93
The Inadequacy of Right-of-Way Policies	97
Improvement in Traffic Rules and Regulations	101
The Problem of Parking	104
Development of Mass Transportation	109
Conclusion	112
VI. THE ECONOMICS OF HIGHWAY MODERNIZATION ..	114
Speed and Economy	114
Capacity of Modern Facilities	118
Highway Design and Safety	120
The Rate of Highway Expenditure	124
The Problem of Financing Modernization	130
VII. A SUMMARY VIEW	137
Nature and Impact of the Highway Problem ..	137
The Possibilities of Automotive Industry Contributions	139
Required Revisions in Public Policy	141
Potential Demand for Automotive Transportation	147