

Contents

List of tables and figures	vii
Contributors	ix
1 Why do outdoor play and learning matter? Helen Little, Sue Elliott and Shirley Wyver	1
Part 1: Outdoor environments as pedagogical spaces
2 Risk-taking in outdoor play: Challenges and possibilities Helen Little	19
3 Green outdoor environments: Settings for promoting children's health and wellbeing Janet Dymont, Anne Bell and Monica Green	38
4 Caring for the environment: Towards sustainable futures Julie Davis	59
5 Birds and babies: A meeting of species Janet Robertson, Meredith Chan and Karen Fong	79
Part 2: Designing and planning for outdoor learning
6 Planning outdoor learning environments Mary Jeavons	99
7 Application of standards and regulations to early years outdoor playspaces Mary Jeavons, Sharon Jameson and Sue Elliott	120

Part 3: Children's voices

- 8 Strengthening children's agency in outdoor learning environments
Glynne Mackey 145
- 9 The private play places of childhood
Deborah Moore 164
- 10 Creating a school playground in Papua New Guinea: A participatory approach with young children
Sue Elliott, Kym Simoncini, Victoria Carr, Lalen Simeon and Elisapesi Manson 182

Part 4: Cultural perspectives

- 11 Indigenous perspectives on outdoor learning environments: On Country Learning
Libby Lee-Hammond and Elizabeth Jackson-Barrett 203
- 12 Outdoor play in Norwegian and Australian early years settings: Differences in theory, pedagogy and practice
Leyla Eide 220

Part 5: The outdoors and beyond

- 13 Beyond the fence: Exploring forest preschool/school approaches in Australia
Sue Elliott and Barbara Chancellor 243
- 14 Urban environments and outdoor learning
Shirley Wyver, Jennifer Kent, Paul Tranter, Geraldine Naughton, Lina Engelen, Anita Bundy and Kam Tara 262
- Acknowledgements 275
- Index 276