

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	1
Part One: Individualism and Social Theory
1 Four Discourses of Individualism	15
2 Individualism Reconsidered	48
3 Theories of Social Individuation and a Way Forward	69
Part Two: Individualism and Democracy in Poland
4 The Democratic Promise of Western Poland	93
5 Individualism Disaggregated: The Wrocław and Łódź Elites in a Cultural Perspective	142
Part Three: Rupture and Reintegration
6 Rupture, 1945–1948	177
7 The Communist Party and the Taming of the Frontier, 1949–1955	242
8 A Quasi-Reformation: The Catholic Church in the Western Territories, 1945–1956	265
9 The Socializers, 1965–1980	312
Conclusion: The Resilience of Individualism	344
Appendix 1: Selected Socioeconomic Development Indicators for Wrocław and Łódź at the Beginning of the Democratic Era (1994)	355
Appendix 2: Interview Questionnaire for Sorting Out Individual and Corporate Identities	356
Appendix 3: List of Interviewees together with Their Classification into Two Main Identity Types	357
Index	361